This Hornbook was found in the process of clearing the ground for the new buildings of Bracenose College, Oxford, in the summer of 1881: and was presented to the Library on April 26. 1882 by the Principal and Fellows of the College.

The upper part of the horn and some of the pins holding it down are restorations made in 1882.

The date seems to be about the time of Charles I.

Arch Bodl. A.

I. 40.

This framework of a hornbook was found with the complete hornbook referenced Arch. Bodl. A. E. 40.